Program: Photography – The Art of Seeing

Speaker: David Ulrich

Photographer, Professor, Pacific New Media, University of Hawaii

David Ulrich is a Professor and Program Coordinator for Pacific New Media, University of Hawai'i at Manoa. He is an active photographer and writer whose work has been published in numerous books and journals including Aperture, Parabola, MANOA, and Sierra Club publications. Ulrich's photographs have been exhibited internationally in over seventy-five one-person and group exhibitions in museums, galleries, and universities. He is the former Chair of the Art Department at Cornish College of the Arts in Seattle, the former Chair of the Photography Department at The Art Institute of Boston, and a former faculty member of Tisch School of the Arts at NYU. He earned a BFA degree from The Museum School of Fine Arts in Boston and an MFA degree from The Rhode Island School of Design. He lives in Honolulu, Hawai'i.

Ulrich is the author of The Widening Stream: the Seven Stages of Creativity and the co-author of Through Our Eyes: A Photographic View of Hong Kong by its Youth.

He was one of three photographers commissioned for the project and book: Kaho'olawe: Na Leo O Kanoloa (The Voices of Kanaloa), which documented the island of Kaho'olawe and which completed its exhibition tour at the Smithsonian. The island is historically sacred to the Hawaiian people and was used as a target range for ordnance training by the US military from 1941-1991.
